Every Stockbridge season is stamped with its own beauty and charm; the green and flower-filled lushness of spring and summer; a fall foliage palette without rival; the winter feel of an old-fashioned Christmas card. Enjoy a wide range of outdoor activities or take a deep breath, inhale the Berkshire mountain air, and slow your pace to match the town's character. Stroll our streets, pathways, and gardens. Indulge your senses in our beautiful rolling hills, and perhaps catch a glimpse of one of our many wild, indigenous inhabitants.

Stockbridge

Historic Tour (see map on pages 22–23)

➔ We have mapped out a route that samples our history, culture, vistas, and leisurely shopping.

Start at the town's crossroads, Main and South Street (Rte. 7). The famed Red Lion Inn, originally founded as the Inn at the Sign of the Red Lion in 1773 (along with the sign of King George III), graces the corner. Its famous front porch beckons visitors to sit, sip, and people-watch. Set in the triangular park at the center of the crossroads is one of Stockbridge's public landmarks, the 1862 Cat and Dog Fountain.

A right turn from the crossroads leads you past many historic buildings. Norman Rockwell captured the interior of the 1884 House, the original Stockbridge Town Offices, in "The Marriage License." Be sure to explore The Mews, a Main Street cul-de-sac of shops, and its neighboring byway that marks the spot of the original Alice's Restaurant of Arlo Guthrie fame.

At the corner of Main and Elm stands the Stockbridge Library. One of the oldest libraries in Western Massachusetts, the original structure, now the left wing, was built in 1864. The library houses the Historical Room, a museum and research center containing the original Hitty doll and artifacts from the town's earliest inhabitants, the Mohican Indians.

The 1881 Watering Trough stands at the corner of Main and Elm. It features the homilies "Utility is preferable to grandeur" and "Merciful man is kind to his beast." As you walk down Elm Street, you'll notice the 1862 red and white firehouse known as Hose House No. 1 that Rockwell pictured in his work "The New American LaFrance is Here!" The impressive 1862 St. Joseph's Church is at the left corner.

Turn the corner onto Maple Street, take a right onto South Street, passing The Red Lion Inn, and cross Main. You will be on Pine Street at the site of the 1866 Soldiers Monument. At that corner, the 1884 St. Paul's Episcopal Church features a chancel window by LaFarge, baptistry by Louis St. Gaudens, and nave window by Tiffany.

Go west on Main Street, toward the beautiful "Cottages" built by wealthy industrialists as summer mansions during the opulent Gilded Age.

The corner of Main and Sergeant Street presents you with The Mission House museum, built in 1739 (the year Stockbridge was incorporated) by Rev. John Sergeant, the first missionary to the Mohican Indians. Originally located on Eden Hill, the Mission House was moved to its Main Street site in the 1920s, restored, furnished with authentic period pieces, and opened as a museum in 1930. Continuing West on Main you will discover the historic Stockbridge Cemetery with its Sedgwick Pie, the ancestral plot of one of Stockbridge's oldest families.

Cross Main Street to the 19th century Village Green, site of the 1824 First Congregational Church, with membership dating back to 1739, additional war memorials, and the Children's Chime Tower, dedicated in 1878 and rung at 5:30 every evening from "apple blossom time until frost" in accordance with the donor's wishes. The historic Greek Revival building is the Historic Town Hall, currently the Berkshire Waldorf School. Farther west on Main Street, past the Congregational Church is the Mohican Burial Monument, with its obelisk of stone hewn from the nearby Ice Glen.

Stockbridge is shaped by its rich history — from its origin as an Indian mission town, to its heyday as a summer home for wealthy families of the Gilded Age, to its current small-town atmosphere captured so endearingly by the American illustrator Norman Rockwell.

➔ The following special sites are best reached by car, although the hearty may wish to walk or bicycle.

SOUTH

A few blocks south of Main, discover the Ice Glen, a natural wonder ideal for hiking. Take Rte. 7 South; turn left onto Park Street and park at the end of the street. A footbridge over the Housatonic River will lead you to three trails. The Mary Flynn Trail is a paved walk along the river that is wheelchair accessible. Or cross the railroad track — in a quarter of a mile, the right fork will lead you into the Ice Glen, complete with glacial boulders and ice crystals even in July. The left fork will take you to Laura's Tower. Climb the tower for views of Mt. Everett, the Catskills, and the Green Mountains.

EAST

Traveling east from The Red Lion Inn, you'll come to the Town Offices, Police Station, and Stockbridge Chamber of Commerce. It also houses public restrooms. Across the street and a little farther to the East, you will find The Fitzpatrick Main Stage. Originally built as a casino in 1888, this iconic building, designed by Stanford White, helped establish the Berkshires as a cultural destination when it became home to the Berkshire Theatre Festival, founded in 1928. Current performances appear in the adjacent Unicorn Theatre.

NORTH

At the Stockbridge crossroads, go north on Pine Street; The Marian Fathers' property, Eden Hill, is at the top of the hill. It's the home of the National Shrine of The Divine Mercy, the Association of Marian Helpers, and the National Shrine Gift Shop. Veer left from Pine Street up Prospect Hill for a glimpse of grand "cottages" and farmsteads. Naumkeag, designed by Stanford White, is one of a few Berkshire Cottages open to the public. Built in 1885 for Joseph Choate, a prominent New York attorney and ambassador to Great Britain, the home, furnishings, and lush gardens draw the visitor into the Gilded Age. The Trustees of Reservations, established in 1891 as the country's first independent organization for the preservation of landscape and historic sites, oversee Naumkeag, the Mission House, and Monument Mountain.

As you continue to climb Prospect Hill, you'll pass Hawthorne Cottage (The Little Red House), home of Nathaniel Hawthorne from 1850–51. Here he collected material for Tanglewood Tales and The Wonder Book, wrote The House of Seven Gables, and crafted names that were later used by two famous sites — Shadowbrook, the largest of the Berkshire Cottages (now the site of Kripalu Center for Yoga & Health) and Tanglewood, the summer home of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Kripalu is a leader of yoga and mindfulness-based education.

Tanglewood is one of the world's most beloved music festivals, famed summer home of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and its training academy, the Tanglewood Music Center, as well as the Boston Pops. It's also the year-round home of the Tanglewood Learning Institute. In a typical summer, Tanglewood welcomes more than 350 thousand visitors to performances, recitals, and seminars across 500 acres nestled between Stockbridge and Lenox.

WEST

Travel west from the town of Stockbridge, turn right at the cemetery, follow Rte. 102 (Church St.) to the Berkshire Botanical Garden. Fifteen acres of landscaped gardens, woodland walks, and picnicking offer visitors information and inspiration. Signs at the corner of the Botanical Garden will direct you south on Route 183 to the Norman Rockwell Museum, Norman Rockwell Museum. Home of the world's largest collection of original Rockwell paintings, the museum includes the artist's studio, outdoor sculpture by Rockwell's son Peter, scenic trails and picnic areas, the Museum Store, and a seasonal terrace café. The museum features permanent and changing exhibitions of Norman Rockwell and works of other American Illustration Art; and offers tours, programs, and classes.

Continue south onto Rte. 183 and follow the signs to Chesterwood, the summer estate of sculptor Daniel Chester French (1850–1931). The Colonial Revival residence and studio house nearly 500 pieces of sculpture — one of the largest collections of fine art devoted to a single American sculptor and period. French is best known for creating two of our nation's most powerful symbols: The Minute Man (1875), and Abraham Lincoln (1922) for the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, DC.

WEST STOCKBRIDGE

Travel west from the town of Stockbridge, turn right at the cemetery onto Rte. 102 (Church St.) and follow the winding country road for approximately 4.4 miles into the center of historical West Stockbridge.

A tranquil and fertile valley fed by the Williams River, West Stockbridge was incorporated in 1774. Close to NY and boasting a rich history in mining marble, iron, and lime, this lovely little town, once home to more than 30 quarries, was the first railroad terminus in Berkshire County.

Today, West Stockbridge retains its picturesque, small-town character. It is home to about 1,600 full-time residents in addition to local businesses, restaurants, an outdoor sculpture park, and a seasonal farmer's market.

What to See & Do

The Stockbridge area is blessed with a line-up of cultural attractions which rival that of many metropolitan areas: internationally renowned summer festivals of music, theatre, and dance; major art museums and galleries, historic homes, gardens, and sculpture parks.

The spectacular Berkshire countryside which provides a backdrop for the cultural showcase is itself a destination, offering opportunities for camping as well as numerous trails and back roads for hiking, cycling, bird-watching, cross-country skiing, and snowshoeing.

Outdoor Activities

Stockbridge Trails

LAUREL HILL ASSOCIATION TRAILS are located at the end of Park Street, within walking distance of downtown Stockbridge:

Ice Glen Trail is a 1-mile (round-trip) climb — over, under, and around giant boulders in a glacial ravine. The sides of the glen are covered with old stand pine and hemlock while the south end is reputedly home to the tallest pine in Massachusetts.

Laura's Tower Trail is a quiet 1.5-mile (round-trip) wooded ascent, starting out through old stand pine and hemlock. A metal tower at the summit provides a panoramic view of the middle Berkshires, including Mount Greylock to the north, the highest point in Massachusetts.

Mary V. Flynn Trail is an easy 1.2-mile (round-trip) walk in the woods and along the Housatonic River, on a wide, packed-gravel trail, built mostly on the bed of the old Berkshire Street Railway trolley line. Starting with a 100-foot boardwalk, the trail goes through birch, pine, cottonwood, and invasive euonymus.

Laurel Hill and Rostrum (50 Main Street) is a hiking area just east of downtown. The property was first preserved in 1834 and eventually served as the birth site of the Laurel Hill Association. Visitors to the property will immediately find an easy hiking trail through the woods. A stone platform, seat, and rostrum were constructed in the glen, up against the rock cliff. They were dedicated as a memorial to Henry Dwight Sedgwick, president of the Association from 1881 to 1904. Sculptor Daniel Chester French (Lincoln Memorial) donated the design work; sculptor Augustus Lukeman (Stone Mountain in Georgia) executed the plans.

Bowker's Woods is divided into two sections. The upper trail is located across the entrance to the Norman Rockwell Museum on Route 183. It is an old, indistinct trail that goes northwest from the pond. It extended over to Mohawk Lake Road, but crosses one of the sold parcels and is now private property. The lower trail, located about a mile outside downtown Stockbridge on Glendale Middle Road, is a mile-plus loop that offers pleasant views and a cool calming atmosphere.

BULLARD WOODS is located at the intersection of Hawthorne Road and Hawthorne Street, across from the Linde Center in Stockbridge. Bullard Woods, a conservation property owned by the Stockbridge Bowl Association, is 42 acres, open to the public with 1.25 miles of hiking trails that begin at the parking lot at Hawthorne Road and lead to the shoreline.

GOULD MEADOWS (110B Interlaken Road), a 95-acre conservation property owned by the Town of Stockbridge, is open to the public with .6 miles of trails offering a nice walk to Stockbridge Bowl, with an open field and benches for relaxing.

OLIVIA'S OVERLOOK TRAIL (Lenox Road, Stockbridge) is a family-friendly roadside scenic view and trailhead managed by the Berkshire Natural Resource Council. The lookout offers expansive views of the Berkshires and the Stockbridge Bowl throughout the year. If looking for a relaxing experience, visitors can bring a book and picnic under the sun at the overlook parking lot. For a more active adventure, visitors can explore the moderate hiking trails that leave from the lookout. The parking lot for the overlook and trailhead is off Richmond Mountain Road before Lenox Branch Road.

Additional Berkshire Trails

BASH BISH FALLS STATE PARK, located next to Mount Washington State Forest, is one of Massachusetts' highest single-drop waterfalls (about 60 feet). An easy hike with incredible views.

BEARTOWN STATE FOREST TRAIL (69 Blue Hill Road in Monterey) is a 12,000-acre forest with a 1.5-mile loop around Benedict Pond. Stroll, hike, swim, boat, fish, ice skate, cross-country ski, or go snowmobiling.

BERKSHIRE NATURAL RESOURCE COUNCIL (BNRC) offers a wide variety of hiking and walking trails for all levels. Please visit bnrc.org for full information and regulations.

KENNEDY PARK (91 Pittsfield Road, Lenox) is a town-owned and -maintained hardwood forest whose groomed trails snake their way through 502 acres of tree-lined forest. You can stroll, hike, mountain bike, horseback ride, and even cross-country ski and snowshoe in the winter.

MONUMENT MOUNTAIN (along Rte. 7 in Great Barrington) is popular among Berkshire adventurers. Enjoy expansive views of Beartown State Forest and Taconic Range from the summit.

MOUNT GREYLOCK (30 Rockwell Road in Lanesborough) has a summit of 3,491 feet and is the highest point in Massachusetts, offering 50 miles of trails crisscrossing the mountain. From the summit, you can see as far as 90 miles on a clear day, including parts of four states and five mountain ranges. Hike or drive to the top for amazing views of the region.

Stockbridge Parks

BIDWELL PARK (52 Main Street) offers a fully equipped playground, tennis, pickleball, and basketball courts, picnic tables, and an ice-skating rink in the winter months. Restrooms are located nearby in the Town offices.

Find more ideas for outdoor activities by visiting stockbridgechamber.org

INTERLAKEN PARK (Averic Road) is located along the Larrywaug Brook. The park offers old-school playground equipment, a swing set, slides and teeter-totters, picnic tables, and benches.

PARK STREET PARK (Park Street) offers picnic tables, a skateboard park, a swing set, and is often used for local soccer matches.

Downhill & Cross-Country Skiing

Within a 5- to 30-minute drive, downhill ski areas include Otis Ridge, Ski Butternut, Jiminy Peak Mountain Resort, Bousquet Mountain, and Catamount Mountain Resort.

OTIS RIDGE (159 Monterey Road, Otis, MA) is an exciting destination for those seeking a day on the ski slopes. The ridge offers 17 slopes, 5 lifts/tows, and night skiing on many of the trails. This is a great destination for beginner skiers, featuring diverse terrain and a snow-sport school that holds frequent evening sessions and offers private lessons. When you are ready to take a break from the slopes, you can visit the Grouse House to refuel. Ample parking is available.

Outdoor Gardens, Art Walks & Museum Grounds

Our museum grounds, historic properties, and botanical gardens can be enjoyed for hiking, passive recreation, picnicking, nature viewing, cross-country skiing, or snowshoeing — some free of charge. Check each venue's website for their offerings.

Lakes

THE STOCKBRIDGE BOWL, also known as Lake Mahkeenac, is a 372-acre artificially impounded body of water. Tanglewood, the Boston Symphony Orchestra's summer home, sits above the northern shore of the lake, with sweeping views to the south. Stockbridge Bowl is the largest lake within the Town of Stockbridge, with a public boat ramp making the lake accessible to all.

Throughout the year, the lake is extensively used by canoers, kayakers, sailors, swimmers, and fishermen. It's incredibly popular in the winter months for ice skating and fishing. The Bowl is also home to the Mahkeenak Boating Club, a venerable sailing and social club with a three-story boathouse on the western side of the lake. The paved boat ramp, located on 106 Interlaken Road, Stockbridge, MA, has large parking lot. There is also a portable toilet near the launch.

STOCKBRIDGE TOWN BEACH (Mahkeenac Road, Stockbridge MA) is a public beach with resident-only parking. It offers visitors a place to picnic, swim in a shallow swimming area, and play in the sand. The park has changing rooms, bathrooms, picnic tables, benches, and park grills.

Golfing & Tennis

STOCKBRIDGE GOLF CLUB (6A Main Street, Stockbridge, MA) is a member-owned private club with an 18-hole golf course, tennis, pickleball, and dining. The course is nestled on the banks of the Housatonic River with scenic views of the surrounding landscape, including the Berkshire Hills in the distance. Guests staying at one of several local inns may inquire about enjoying the club during your visit.

MIRAVAL BERKSHIRES RESORT & SPA (55 Lee Road, Lenox, MA) The resort's historic 18-hole golf course, open to the public, combines spectacular views with challenging golf. Tree-lined fairways and naturally contoured greens have been carefully preserved since the course was built by Wayne Stiles and John Van Kleek in 1926. The course provides the ideal setting for a memorable golf experience.

Pick Your Own

WINDY HILL FARM (Great Barrington, MA) Pick your own apples and blueberries on the scenic hillside of this beloved family farm. The apple season begins around late August with tart, crunchy Paulared and Ginger Gold varieties. Typically there are over 25 varieties to follow, including several heirlooms. Take home fresh-pressed, all-natural unpasteurized sweet cider. The blueberry season usually begins around early July. In the winter holiday season, you can find holiday garland, cut trees, and decorations.

Where to Stay

When Norman Rockwell described Stockbridge as “...the Best of New England,” he may have been influenced by the town’s architectural landscape, as well as its tradition of extending hospitality to visitors. Today the town’s innkeepers help preserve Stockbridge’s historic character and maintain its heritage of welcoming guests, while providing the modern amenities travelers have come to expect.

Whether you prefer an historic inn, charming B&B or a newer property, be sure to make your reservations well in advance if you’re planning to visit during the popular summer or fall foliage seasons.

Where to Eat

You can still get nearly anything you want when dining out in the Stockbridge area. You can even visit the site of the original Alice's Restaurant. The area offers a variety of options, ranging from casual to elegant and familiar to eclectic. Whether your preference is an intimate café, a casual family-friendly restaurant, an old-fashioned lunch counter, or an historic inn, you'll find it here.

Many of our local chefs are affiliated with Berkshire Grown, an organization that brings fresh ingredients from local producers directly to the restaurant kitchen.

Reservations are highly recommended during our busy summer and autumn seasons, and throughout the year on weekends.

A cozy restaurant nestled in the Stockbridge mews, serving seasonal fare, beer & wine.

Where to Shop

Boutiques, galleries, and charming shops line the streets of Stockbridge, a picturesque village that still looks much the way it did when artist Norman Rockwell was working in his studio overlooking Main Street.

From upscale clothing to antique jewelry, unique gifts to specialty foods and wine, original art to home furnishings, this area offers something of interest to antique-lovers, souvenir-hunters or serious art-collectors, alike. Browsing through the unique shops of Stockbridge is a favorite pastime in any season of the year.
